Customer Reviews

We are the proud parents of four children. Two of them have multiple life threatening food allergies and one has Celiac disease. Over the course of their lives we have needed to take them to multiple allergists and specialists. Each physician often required lab/test results from other doctors to help gain insight into our kids' allergies and intolerances. Over the years we have photocopied multiple test results and have stacks of papers and folders on each child in an attempt to keep a thorough history. Dr. Shah has put together a comprehensive food allergy journal that we love! It is both educational and informative. We are able to keep track of lab results, food challenges, Doctors' visits and take notes. Everything we will ever need is now all in one book. As an R.N., I am impressed with all that this Food Allergy Journal has to offer. Dr. Shah has covered it all. As a mom, I am very grateful to Dr. Shah for giving us a tool that will help us care for our children and help them to lead the life they were meant to lead.

What an amazing journal! A place to store all of your information regarding your child's allergies! I have so many miscellaneous papers all over and this has eliminated that! Now that we are doing oral immunotherapy (OIT) we can record our progress. We have even printed out pictures to attach to the journal so we can look back and remember this extraordinary process! It takes an amazing doctor to put together something like this! Dr. Shah truly cares about each of his patients and even those he can't personally help! This journal can be useful for anyone with food allergies. I highly recommend it to everyone!

This is an excellent tool to monitor and journal any of your food allergy experiences and treatments. This way you can see clear patterns so you can limit exposure to your allergic triggers and see how immunotherapy is progressing. Dr. Shah has done an excellent job putting this comprehensive journaling tool together in an easy to use format. With this information organized in this way, it makes it easy to share with your healthcare providers so you can devise and adjust your allergy treatment plans and be in better control of your life.
